

DMMA BV-24A Updates
September 18, 2018

Update from Andrew Phillips, Project Manager, US Army Corps of Engineers:

A FIND “crew are on site at BV-24 A this week and next week doing a scrub-jay survey. We ought to have a report in hand within a month of field work completion.”

Update from Mark Crosley, Executive Director, Florida Inland Navigation District:

“The District will be conducting Scrub Jay surveys in the near future. I am uncertain whether we can get this accomplished by the end of October. Otherwise, we’ll have to wait until March.

Our contractor is already sampling the monitoring wells. There was some concern about the amount of ammonia that could be coming off the horse farm near our SE corner of the property, so we added that test to the project.”
